

Welcome...

SHE'S been off our screens for nine months but now TV hotty Lorraine Keane is back having teamed up with us to write an exclusive column every single Sunday.

To celebrate the news we took her along to Dublin's newest club Alchemy to talk red carpet gossip, hate mail, losing her friends and Bono (pages 8-10).

Desperate Househusband Kyle McLaughlin talks to us about his real passions in life – wine and golf – and how he accidentally fell into acting (pages 12-13).

Daragh Keany takes us through the wackiest bets for 2010 including Paddy Power's top tips for making a few quid from your festive flutter (pages 4-5) and he also meets the Irishman who cured his asthma and hay fever by sitting in a salt cave in Maynooth. You really have to read it to believe it on pages 60-61.

Enjoy

LISTEN TO IT

CD GRAFFITI, Chris Brown

IT'S going to be a long road back for Chris Brown after his assault on Rihanna judging by the initial reaction to his latest album Graffiti.

As an artist, Brown really is a class act and Graffiti is his finest work in his short but critically acclaimed and commercially successful career.

Unfortunately, Brown hasn't yet been cleansed of his sin and would have been better advised to hold back on releasing this CD.

SHOW THE CORONAS, The Academy, next Saturday (Jan 9)

ONE of the big home-grown success stories of recent years, The Coronas kick off the year with this hugely anticipated show at Dublin's Academy next Saturday.

It follows the success of their latest album, Tony Was An Ex-Con, which includes the hit single, Listen Dear.

This promises to be a great start to the year for Danny O'Reilly and co in The Coronas as they roll out hits like Grace, Don't Wait, Heroes or Ghosts and the ever popular San Diego Song.

BOOK WHIRLWIND: The Incredible Story Of Jimmy White

HE got to the final three of I'm A Celebrity...Get Me Out Of Here! It has introduced Jimmy White to a whole new generation outside the world of snooker.

Whirlwind, the nick-name he earned for the speed with which he cleared a snooker table in his heyday, reveals the man and his addictions to women, gambling, drink and drugs.

It's a hugely entertaining read, even if you're not a snooker fan.

DVD BANDSLAM

THIS high-school drama centres around three mismatched teens (Vanessa Hudgens, Aly Michalka and Gaelan Connell) who start a band together.

The school outcast and a popular girl form an unlikely bond through their shared love of music.

Assembling a like-minded crew of misfits, they perform in the battle of the bands competition at their school. This is highly entertaining drama with great music and a David Bowie cameo.
